

Trauma-Informed Curriculum & Approach to Schooling

Workshop Content

- Understanding Special Educational Needs (SEN) - with a focus on Social, Emotional and Mental Health (SEMH) needs - and the impact these can have on learning and development.
- Increasing accessibility to the curriculum for our students with SEN/SEMH.
- Adapting learning and teaching strategies, including creating bespoke or personalised learning pathways.
- Transferable take-aways.

This course is for: teachers and school leaders working in an educational setting who want to develop their personal understanding of working with young people with trauma.

Duration: 3 hours Venue: College House, Newton Abbot / or online Cost: TBC

Training delivered by specialists

This training is delivered by the award-winning School for Inspiring Talents. Our team will share real life case studies from their work on the front line, supporting children's transformation within an educational setting.

Jules Sanders is the manager of Life Chance's Multi-Disciplinary Team (MDT), and has worked in Alternative Provision and Specialist Settings as Vice Principal and Department Lead. She was previously a Trauma Informed Schools UK (TISUK) senior trainer. She has over 20 years' experience as a qualified primary teacher and SENDCo supporting children with Special Education Needs and Disabilities (SEND) specialising in inclusion, behaviour and emotional wellbeing. In recent years Jules has been the team manager within the Child and Adolescent Mental Health Service (CAMHS), and a Lead for the Targeted Mental Health in Schools (TaMHS) Team in Plymouth. She has also held responsibility for the Primary Mental Health Work (PMHW) Team and the Infant Mental Health (IMH) Team.

Emily Hanbury is Head of Curriculum at School for Inspiring Talents (SfIT). She is a trained teacher and SENDCo with both special and mainstream experience. She was the CSE Project Lead for Torbay Schools with The Children's Society and has also been Head of Lower School at a large MLD special school. Her educational background is in Education studies and criminological research, and she has extensive volunteering experience, having worked for many years as a Childline Counsellor and Victim Support worker.

To book or for further info, please email: info@lifechance.org.uk